INDEPENDENCE PARTY RALLY AT MUSIC HALL

Major J. A. Greene Addresses A Good Sized Gathering

The Independence Party opened their campaign in this city on Friday evening, with a rally at Music Hall, which was attended by between three and four hundred people and it was a representative crowd, who stayed until the last speaker had finished.

The chief speaker was Major J. A. Greene, the candidate for Congress from that party and he had with him Hon. Walter Lewis of Manchester, the independent candidate for Mayor of that city and Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Haverhill, Mass.

Both Messrs. Lewis and Sawyer were good speakers, especially the latter, but Dr. Greene was the chief drawing card and he was at his best. He talked some little time on the local affairs or what Congressman Sullivan had done or had not done for this city and the navy yard, and he was anything but complimentary to the republican candidate for Congress. He also had a fling at the employment of the prison labor at the navy yard and painted in very rosy colors the beauty of the Independence League. He paid some little attention to the Salem race track, which he said was ruined because a few ministers thought it would be wicked to bet on a horse and found state officials foolish enough to believe the same, and an enterprise that would have created a thriving city out of the little town of Salem, and have benefited the entire state, was ruined. He said he was in favor of this track, and also placed himself on record as being in favor of as he called it Rum Regulation, that is the license law. He was also opposed to so much political capital being made out of the railroads, which he said not only owned more real estate, but employed more high class labor than any corporation in the state.

Dr. Greene's Speech

Last year we learned through the agency of the daily press of a new political party that had divided California, carried Indiana, elected the entire ticket in New York, except governor, cast over a quarter of a million votes in the local election for mayor of New York city and polled 75,000 ballots in a four-cornered fight for governor of Massachusetts. More recently, the press told us of the conventions held in the various states and afterwards of the great national convention at Chicago and the principles and platform of this new party. I read and was interested; I thought and wondered; I reflected and was amazed; I meditated and was astounded and asked myself, "Can all this be true?" and the answer came, "Sober and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened to you." I sought and found; I knocked and it was opened to me in all its purity and grandeur. I gazed and marvelled as I beheld a great light illuminating the political horizon and then arose in all its dazzling brilliancy, the bright historical star in whose radiant center appeared in diamond brilliancy the letters "R. R." "Radical Reform," while in its gorgeous beams and gemitations I traced in characters of living light, the words "purity of the ballot box; revise the tariff; annihilate the trusts; shoot hoons and better pay; destroy machine politics; crush corrupt party."

THREE OCTOBER BRIDES FROM PORTSMOUTH

Miss Minnie Woods Was Wedded To- day to Edward Peirson Hendrick

Daughter of Rear Admiral Highborn Marries a Massachusetts Editor

Miss Agnes Blake Joins her Fate with a Man from the State of Minnesota

The first church wedding of the season and one which created a deal of interest took place at St. John's church this forenoon at eleven o'clock and was well attended by relatives and friends.

As previously announced in the Herald, the contracting parties were Miss Minnie M. Woods, daughter of Mrs. Eliza L. Woods and the late John Woods of Portsmouth, and Edward Peirson Hendricks of Boston, recently a civil engineer at the navy yard.

The church was lighted and handsomely adorned by friends of the wedded pair and consisting in part of a handsome arch of clematis and snowdrops which spanned the chancel steps, the gate of the latter being heavy in tiles of the valley, while the adjoining railing was massed in mountain laurel. The altar was decorated with bouquets of berries and brilliantly illuminated and the font was graced with birch berries while the windows were banded with the same and branches of hollyhock.

While the guests were gathering Miss Helen Melvin of Boston, who presided at the organ, skillfully played choice selections from classic composers. The ushers were John Buckingham of London, England, a cousin of the bride, and Samuel J. Gerish, Jr., druggist of Haverhill, Mass., formerly of Portsmouth.

The bridal party consisted of the following: Maid of honor, Miss Josie L. Woods, sister of the bride; best man, George M. Orr of Detroit. The bride was arrayed in white mesaline, cut on train, and over tulle; luteless lace yoke; a veil of tulle caught up by orange blossoms, and a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She came in on the arm of her brother, Walter S. Woods.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Henry E. Hovey, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother. At the conclusion of the service the organist rendered the Wedding March by Mendelssohn.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother which was handsomely adorned for the occasion in cut flowers, hollyhock, wild berries and ferns. Over the festive hours was an open sunshade wound with verdure and dotted with red berries, while festoons of white ribbon ran from the same to the corners of the table. There were also tasteful adornments on the dining board.

The felicitations to the esteemed couple were of the happiest nature. Salads, rolls, sandwiches, ices, coffee and punch were served.

The wedding gifts were many and valuable and of unusual variety. The couple were of the bride's mother, a family heirloom, a handsome gold watch and chain. The bride's aunt, the maid of honor, a charming gold watch. The groom's sister, a gold and amethyst necklace and to the sisters gold and pearl earrings.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks started on the afternoon train on their bridal trip which will include Quebec, Montreal, Burlington, Vt., and Springfield, Mass., the former home of the groom. They will be absent two weeks and at its conclusion will reside at No. 29 Melton street, Ashmont. They are to be "at home" on and after January first.

The bride's travelling dress was of blue serge and tailor made, a white hand-embroidered waist, and hat of blue felt adorned with maroon feathers and velvet to match.

The guests from out of town included the groom's father, Mrs. M. Eva Foster of Boston and Miss Jennie Vose of Waterville, Me.

The bride was for a number of years an able and devoted teacher at the Whipple school, had been a member of the schools of St. John's church and the Universalist church and was affiliated with the G. A. R. Club.

The groom occupies the position of civil engineer and superintendent of construction, quartermaster's department, U. S. A., with present business office in Boston.

A large circle of friends here and elsewhere extend to Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks in their new relation the choicest of wishes for a journey of life together that shall be filled with cheer and abundance.

Emerson—Highborn

Miss Philippa Eliza Rand Highborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Highborn, and a niece of Rear Admiral Philip Highborn, U. S. N., formerly of Portsmouth, was married Thursday evening at the home of her parents, 109 Florence avenue, Revere, Mass., to Herbert Everett Emerson of Whitman, editor of the Whitman Sun and Visitor, by Rev. O. E. Mark, pastor of the Methodist church.

The bride wore a princess dress of white silk mesaline and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The ushers were Robert P. Highborn and Thomas B. Dunn of Whitman.

After a wedding trip to New York and southern cities Mr. and Mrs. Emerson will reside in Whitman, where they will be at home after Jan. 1 at Edgar terrace.

Blake—Davis

The wedding of one of Portsmouth's fair daughters, as she is one of the most charming and graceful, took place today in Brookline, Mass., and made society circles resound with a plethora of wishes.

The Herald refers to the nuptials of Miss Agnes, daughter of Mrs. Charles P. Blake, now of Brookline, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Ladd of Market street, this city. The fortunate young man is Mr. Edward Perkins Davis of St. Paul, Minn., and a graduate of Harvard College, '09. His parents and their connections are among the leading people of the western city.

The invalidism of the bride's mother made the event more quiet than it would otherwise have been, but notwithstanding this ill drawback it was an ideal function and very heartily entered into by the fortunate assemblage. Miss Helen Loughton of Court street, a close friend for many years of the bride, represented Portsmouth.

Mrs. Davis graduated from the Portsmouth High school in the class of '06, and resided with her mother in this city for years. In the Ladd mansion on Market street.

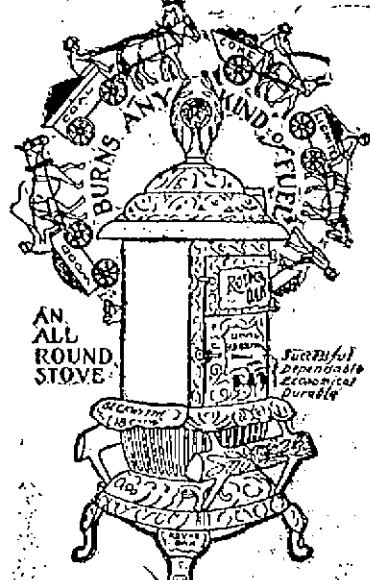

Abundant and abounding wishes enveloped the newly wedded.

LOCATION APPROVED FOR THE NAVY YARD SHEARS

Hoped That They May Soon Come from Boston to Portsmouth

Washington, Oct. 10.—The navy department is planning several important improvements and changes in the navy yards at Boston and Portsmouth.

The Portsmouth yard will be improved soon by the removal there of a pair of 100-ton shears from Boston. This transfer was authorized by Congress at its last session. The shears, so-called, are similar to travelling derricks, and are used to unload or load vessels from the land. This particular pair of shears cost about $50,000, and it will cost more than $5,000 to move it to Portsmouth.

Secretary Mitchell on Friday approved the location at Portsmouth tentatively selected for the shears. It is on the quay wall near the entrance of the new dry dock, where the shears will be available for lighterage or equipping vessels. It is stated at the department that the removal of the shears from Boston will not injure the equipment of the navy yard there, as it has powerful derricks that will serve the same purpose, while Portsmouth has no such equipment.

At Boston it is proposed to install new electric generating machinery, which will materially increase the capacity of the power plant. This improvement will cost probably $50,000. In that connection, Civil Engineer Thompson, who has charge of the work of the bureau of yards and docks at Boston, is here conferring with the bureau officials.

This improvement will be in addition to the installation of generating machinery and boilers, which is going on at Boston under contract. Bids for the contemplated work will be advertised for in a short time. The department believes that there will be money available to carry it out.

CLOTHES-LINE THIEF IN THE POLICE COURT

Suspected That Others of His Kind Are Still At Large

McDonough street appears to be a busy locality for prowlers during the night.

About 12.30 this morning Officer Shannon at the corner of Brewster and McDonough streets ran into George H. Hussey, who looked suspicious. George had a bundle of underwear under his arm and as he could not give a clear account of his movements at that hour the officer brought George and the clothing to the station house. Investigation followed and brought out the fact that George had quietly annexed himself to shirts, stockings and other wearing apparel on the line in the yard of Josiah Lovell. George was not particular about his selection and ladies' drop-stitch hosiery went with the rest.

Hussey did not wait for the outfit to dry but shook everything wet and was well under way for his escape when held up by the police. McDonough street and vicinity has suffered to the extreme from the hands of clothesline thieves and the residents have lost some valuable articles of late.

The police court record tells what was done with George.

In the Police Court

Hussey belongs in Newburyport and formerly was of this city.

Judge Stines in the municipal court today read the warrant charging him with the larceny of clothing from the yard of Josiah Lovell on McDonough street. He pleaded guilty and asked the court to let him off with a fine as he had been drinking and did not remember where he picked the wardrobe.

The court told George to hunt up $5.00 and costs of $6.90 or anchor himself in the county jail for sixty days. George sent a whistles to Newburyport for the equivalent to obtain his release.

Harry Ballard, for assault on George Ames, pleaded not guilty. The court heard the story of trouble from Ballard and George and dismissed the case.

The great hit that this play is making all over the country shows what a true picture of real life Mr. E. F. Kidder has drawn. There is much love in the play, and very little sorrow, and all ends well with the audience going away happy over the episode seen upon the stage.

There is enough stirring action in the play to make it true to life for each country village has about one villain, and the drama is not far removed from the city to keep the flow one company, and thanks to the author, these parts are effectively presented. Then there is the villain, the mistress who is especially true to life. This charming play will be seen at Portsmouth Music Hall for two nights Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 12 and 13.

Knapp's Band, Oct. 14

Said the Albany, N. Y., Knickerbocker Press of Oct. 12:

Most men of wealth have a hobby. In the instance of Charles Knapp, a well known banker of Bangor, his desire is to have a body of men under his baton, where concerts will be the first rank of the musical organizations of the country.

To say that he has accomplished his purpose would be but to do him justice, and though there was a fair-sized audience at Hermann Blecher Hall last evening to hear his "Millionaire Band" it is to be regretted that Albatross who are recognized as being lovers of music did not take advantage of the opportunity afforded them to enjoy either the afternoon or night concert given by this band.

It was indeed a musical treat for those who were fortunate to have the inclement weather of last evening to hear it. Each and every number on the program was rendered with a snap and precision which showed the careful training the musicians had received to bring them up to the high standard of perfection they have attained.

Each selection was thoroughly appreciated and the leader was most generous with his encore, playing some march which everyone would know, enlivening the program, such as "The Affair to go Home in the Dark" with variations which caught the audience and pleased immensely.

"The Thief"

Husbands and wives will take notice of the content of "The Thief" which will be played at Portsmouth Music Hall on Friday, Oct. 16.

"The Thief" presents a study of the home which can hardly fail to be absorbing to anybody and to heads of households in particular. In this drama, a wife feels that her husband's admiration for her is beginning to cool and stunts money for clothes in order to enhance her attractiveness.

The plot is one of suspense and possesses the fascination of a great detective story.

"The Thief" has made a profound impression the world over because it reflects human nature everywhere.

It has been translated into four or five languages and in the form in which it will be seen here it was so much of a success as to fill the Lyceum Theatre, New York, for a solid season.

Marie Doro—the New Star

The entry of Miss Doro into that choice circle of American theatrical stars proved one of the events of last season and served to establish her rights to admission without reservation. This season Miss Doro has a wonderful comedy in four acts by Gavault and Morton, and entitled "The Richest Girl."

In Boston, where as a year before, Miss Doro insisted on making her stellar debut, she again achieved a rare personal triumph as "Benjamin Stomper, the chocolate girl," so called because she is the daughter of the chocolate king of France. Her winsomeness, her light methods, her genuine artistry, all added in moving the character appeal beyond the footlights and in bringing the comedy itself into a success the more marked because it was an absolutely new creation.

"The Richest Girl" was made in Paris but has not been noted there as yet, so Miss Doro's characterization may be said to be all her own. The Scene in Third Act of "Sky Farm"

comedy is in four acts and it tells of the old romance of "Benjamin," the wild and thoughtless, and "Paul Normand," the young government clerk, who through her waywardness, loses fortune and position, only to love and be loved by "Benjamin" after he

"The Lion and the Mouse"

The success of "The Lion and the Mouse," which will be seen at the Portsmouth Music Hall next week, Saturday night, is an interesting story. The play is a comedy in four acts, and is a study of the home which can hardly fail to be absorbing to anybody and to heads of households in particular.

Charles McChes, the owner of the M. Chas. Magazine, was a pretty, but the had brains. Nothing is a judge of brains, he engaged her, and started her on the history of the standard oil company. Her articles appeared in Mc-

They were quickly read by Thomas W. Lawson, and inspired him to write "The Lion and the Mouse," which is a study of the home which can hardly fail to be absorbing to anybody and to heads of households in particular.

Query: Who wrote the play? Miss Tilden, Mr. Lawson, Mr. Clark, or Mr. Tilden. In the play, it is said to be written by Thomas W. Lawson.

Lawson's. Rogers. Anyway, it is a great play, and is only in its fourth year of independent success. That is, in its infancy.

Author of "The Man of the Hour"
The new play has written the great hit of many theatrical seasons. George Broadhurst has more and more success to his credit than any other American playwright with the single exception of Clyde Fitch. Thus, Mr. Broadhurst is the author of "The Wrong Mr. Wright," "The Spectator," "Nancy Brown," "The Last of the Mohicans," "What Happened to Jones," "Why Didn't I Tell You," "The Love of Daphne," and the M.H.s. of the Gods.

His "The Man of the Hour" will be acted here Oct. 16 at the Portsmouth Music Hall.

A great cast will present this wonderful success.

His health then failing, he went to California for several years, and after his return devoted himself assiduously to botanical pursuits, making original discoveries and becoming a special authority in ferns and grasses. He wrote much for botanical magazines and published several pamphlets. About six years ago, Oakes Ames, of North Easton, engaged Mr. Eaton's services, and until his death the botanist was employed in Mr. Ames' botanical laboratory. SERVIANS DEMAND WAR.

King Peter Must Abdicate
Unless He Complies.

POWERS FEELING ABOUT.

Seeking Common Ground Upon
Which They Can Unite For Calling Conference—"Czar of Bulgaria" Enters Rumanian Capital and Receives Enthusiastic Greeting—Kaiser Said to Be Author of Trouble.

London, Oct. 10.—Despite warnings to King Peter from Great Britain and France that the people of Serbia must be kept in check, the populace of Belgrade held demonstrations yesterday and demanded the resignation of the cabinet and the abdication of King Peter unless he declared war against Austria-Hungary, which has refused to accept Serbia's protest against her annexing of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Ten thousand Austro-Hungarian troops are garrisoned along the Drina river between Bosnia and Serbia ready for eventualities, and it is said 150,000 men can be thrown into Serbian territory in twenty-four hours.

M. Iswolsky, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, arrived in London last night and will confer today with Sir Edward Grey, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, concerning the calling together of the powers signatory to the treaty of Berlin in an endeavor to bring order out of the present chaos in the Balkans.

The different powers are feeling about for a common ground upon which they can unite for the calling of a conference. Austria will not have the new status of Bosnia and Herzegovina discussed. Bulgaria will not consent to have the complete independence of Bulgaria brought into question. Russia may not demand the opening of the Dardanelles, but she will seek some compensation. Italy demands that Austria abandon the protection of the port of Montenegro. Germany's quiet pro quo is not known, but it must be of value to her.

Turkey, at first favorable to the proposed conference, begins to see that there is little in it for her. Her compensations will be "moral," the withdrawal of capitulations, removal of restrictions in Macedonia and money returns for the Oriental railway seizure and for Eastern Rumelia, but no return to her of her lost provinces. Possibly the powers may whip Cretan into submission, but it is doubtful.

No confirmation has yet been received of the report that the Albanians have declared their independence of the Sultan of Turkey.

Yesterday at Candia, the largest city in Crete, the militia followed the example of their compatriots at Canea, the capital of the island, and took the oath of fidelity to Greece.

RUMELIA WITH FERDINAND.

Philippopolis, Bulgaria, Oct. 10.—"The Czar of Bulgaria," or Prince Ferdinand as he is still known officially to the rest of the world, entered Philippopolis, the capital of Eastern Rumelia, last evening. He was greeted by shouts of artillery and the enthusiastic shouts of the populace. He was welcomed at the railroad station, gallantly decorated in his honor, by the civil and military officials and high dignitaries of the church, who accompanied him on a triumphal tour of the city.

Outside the railroad station the people had erected an imposing triumphal arch. The mayor and the municipal corporation presented Ferdinand with the customary bread and salt, while hundreds of schoolboys waved flags and showered flowers in the path of their ruler. The procession traversed the streets, which were all lined with troops, to the cathedral, where the clergy officiated at a mass. Philippopolis is filled with immense crowds from the surrounding country, and the demonstrative reception fully approved of his declaration of independence and his assumption of full sovereignty over Rumelia.

INSTIGATED BY THE KAISER?

Paris, Oct. 10.—The Journal Des Debats publishes a letter from what it calls "an unusually well-informed source," describing the Balkan situation as a veritable plot of which Emperor William is the real author, with Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, a willing tool. It was the emperor's purpose to humiliate Great Britain as a friend of the new regime in Turkey and at the same time to inflict a blow on the "Young Turks," whose ascendancy threatened the German influence in the empire. Ferdinand and Bulgaria were drawn in, the writer of the letter declares, in order to involve Russian sympathy and thereby opposition from that quarter.

BLANK SHOTS FROM FORTS.

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—One of the boats of a Bulgarian company which runs a steamship line between Constantinople and Yarm, came near getting into serious trouble as a result of firing the new Bulgarian royal flag, which is unknown among the nations of the world. The steamer attempted to enter the Bosphorus and the observers at the forts, not knowing her nationality, fired two blank shots across her bows. Thereupon the steamer turned around and departed.

BRITISH WARSHIPS MOVE.

Valletta, Island of Malta, Oct. 10.—Battleship Prince of Wales, flagship of Prince Louis of Battenberg, the battleship Gorgon, the cruisers Diana and Suffolk and the torpedo boat destroyers Angler and Daubhee, have sailed for the Aegean sea. The squadron will be followed later by the battleship Canopus and the cruiser Minerva.

BULLET FOR MISTCHENKO.

Askaniya, Turkistan, Oct. 10.—During the maneuvers of the Turkistan army corps near here General Mistchenko, who played a conspicuous part in the Russo-Japanese war and who is now governor general of Turkistan, was slightly wounded in the leg by a bullet in a sham battle. A revolutionist plot is suspected. The maneuvers were suspended and the weapons and ammunition of the troops were examined. Ball cartridges and traces of shot in the barrels of a number of rifles were discovered. An investigation is in progress.

FOREIGN CRITIC CORRECTED.

Cardinal Gibbons Says American Women Are Not Unhappy.

New York, Oct. 10.—Cardinal Gibbons, in an interview published here, made what might be called a corrective reply to Dr. Andrew McPhail, who, in an article published in a London paper recently, was quoted as declaring that American women are idle and unhappy.

"American women of a certain class and of a limited number," says the cardinal, "perhaps are the idlest and unhappiest in the world. I refer to possessors of exorbitant wealth, some of whom have neither religious principles nor domestic virtues to restrain them and employ their vast fortunes merely for the gratification of their passions. But also there is a portion of our very wealthy class that lives quietly and virtuously. Against them and against our middle and poorer classes the charge of idleness is absolutely unfair. "The really good women of America, whose lives are actuated by sound principles," he continued, "that is the majority of them, never get into the society that the foreigner sees. He draws his unfavorable conclusions from a few extraordinary women who spend their lives and wealth in the pursuit of mad and meaningless pleasure. Of them the foreign criticism of which you speak is entirely just. This should be deplored as much by Americans as by foreigners."

The interviewer told the cardinal that McPhail thinks the woman who works to a trick day, and the cardinal replied that he admired the woman who works "but that is a grave economical problem, which I would not discuss at hand," he added.

CAUNT TO ATTEND CONFERENCE.

Attack on Lyon Strikebreakers Prevented by Police.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 10.—Joseph Caunt arrived home late last night. He declared to say where he had been or what his attitude on the strike question now is. In regard to the conference planned for today he said he was ignorant of the fact that one was to be held, but if a meeting was arranged he would be glad to attend. "The other shoe manufacturers, when approached on this subject, all professed to know nothing about it, but all expressed a willingness to attend if one was called."

The first evidences of trouble with strikebreakers occurred yesterday afternoon, when several hundred striking hatters and sympathizers gathered around the building where strikebreakers were employed by Harnoy Bros. and the J. L. Walker company to attack the strikebreakers when they came out. A squad of police officers, however, were sent to the scene when the hour for the dismissal of the employees approached, and succeeded in clearing the street around the building.

The seven hundred Americans employed by Harnoy Bros. were escorted by a cordon of police to their lodgings at East Lynn, and the several Hebrews from the J. L. Walker company factory were also given police protection until they took a train for their homes in Boston.

Business Agent Tracy of the Lasting Machine Operators' union says that the only issue of the strike is the trouble at the Caunt factory, and that the grievances of the men at other factories are petty ones and can be adjusted individually after the real trouble has been settled.

WILL LIVE IN PAPER MILL.

Livermore Falls, Me., Oct. 10.—A gang of twenty-six strike breaking papermakers arrived here from Albany to go to work in the mills of the International Paper company here, which have been closed on account of a strike for over two months. Cot beds were installed in the mill buildings and the men will eat and sleep in the mills near their work.

KING'S AUTO DITCHED.

Placencia, Spain, Oct. 10.—The Spanish royal automobile was ditched here as the result of a bursting. King Alfonso was uninjured, but two of his aides were badly bruised.

RECENT PANIC IS DISCUSSED.

Bryan Says His Election
Will Cure Hard Times.

HE ARRAIGNS ROOSEVELT.

"Shall Not Be Permitted to Nominate and Elect His Successor"— Pokes Fun at Republican Platform and Tells of Blunder of Omaha Editor Who Is a Member of the National Committee.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 10.—Fresh from his conference in Chicago with hundreds of business men whom he also specially addressed, William J. Bryan, traveling for twelve hours yesterday through the state of Illinois and making numerous stops, held himself up as "the advance agent of prosperity."

The panic of last fall was his principal topic, and from early morning until his last word was uttered last night he hammered away at the Republican charge that his election will mean business depression and failures. He quoted statistics showing the number of failures in the last nine months have exceeded those for a corresponding period of 1893, and laid particular stress on the fact that the panic of 1907 was under a Republican administration.

Attention was called by him to a statement recently appearing in a Chicago Republican paper that 15,000 children went to school hungry every morning. A Democratic victory this year, he asserted, furnished the only hope of a cure for the hard times from which he said the people are suffering and for restoration of prosperity.

He assailed Mr. Taft for running on a platform which he did not endorse, attacked Speaker Cannon and Mr. Sherman, the Republican vice presidential nominee, as being responsible for stifling legislation in behalf of labor, and finally bitterly arraigned the president again for taking a hand in the campaign.

For the first time he referred to Congressman Longworth's alleged statement at Moline, Ill., that Taft should be elected and hold office for eight years, and then be succeeded by his father-in-law, President Roosevelt.

"He shall not be permitted to nominate and elect his successor," Bryan vehemently declared, "with the prospect as announced by his own son-in-law of then dictating for eight years more. It is time that the power of the people shall be used by the people."

Mr. Bryan made fun of the Republican platform, basing his remarks principally on a recent editorial in the Omaha Bee, which criticized a part of the Republican tariff plank under the idea that it was an extract from some speech of his.

"Why, my friends," he said, "I used to buy books on humor whenever I wanted to read something funny, but now I read Republican platforms and save money. The funniest platform I ever read was the one adopted in Chicago and the funniest plank in it is the tariff plank." He read the editorial referred to and said:

"The man who edits the paper is a member of the executive committee of the Republican national committee, and so well posted that he is at the head of the publicity bureau. He says he did not write it and I am willing to take his word for it. It was written to shed light upon a public question for the benefit of the readers of the paper, and it only shows how pitiful the Republican platform looks to a Republican when the Republican can look at it without this of indignation."

Enormous crowds greeted him everywhere along the line of travel and enthusiastically cheered him. At some points he was caught in the swaying multitude and forced to extricate himself.

With the speech delivered here last night he had spoken fourteen times. In several instances his remarks were of considerable length. The feature of his address here was his denial of the statement printed in a western newspaper that he wrote editorials and made speeches against granting pensions to old soldiers. In his audience were a number of veterans from the soldiers' home at this place.

Accompanying the candidate through the state was a large delegation from the Democratic state committee and ex-Governor Francis of Missouri, who was a member of President Cleveland's cabinet, and who introduced Bryan here.

THE DEMOCRATIC FUND.

New York, Oct. 10.—While the Democratic national committee will not until next week announce the amount of its campaign fund and the names of those who have contributed $100 or more, it is understood that the total is a little more than $220,000.

It is learned that there have been fourteen individual contributors of $1000 each. The Denver headquarters of the national committee has collected $5000, which is said to include a check of $1000 from former Senator Clark of Montana. The smallest contribution received was 1 cent, which came in the mail from Monroe, Wis.

ball, New York; Archibald McNeill, Bridgeport, Conn.; Guy B. Tucker, Little Rock, Mo.; Dunlap, Illinois; Roger Sullivan, Chicago; Perry Belmont, New York; Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma; J. J. Hogan, La Crosse, Wis.; E. O. Wood Plant, Mich.; E. F. Geltra, St. Louis; Moses C. Wetmore, St. Louis, and Norman E. Mack, Buffalo.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

New York, Oct. 10.—An appeal for contributions to the Republican national campaign fund of $50 each from 10,000 business men was issued by George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican national committee. The appeal concludes: "I hope you will place yourself on this roll and send me your check, for which an official receipt will be sent you."

The fact that Andrew Carnegie has contributed $20,000 to the campaign fund of the Republican national committee was announced by State Chairman Woodruff yesterday, who also announced that Mrs. Russell Sage had contributed $100.00 to the same fund.

FAIRBANKS IN MARYLAND.

Westminster, Md., Oct. 10.—Vice President Fairbanks made his first address in Maryland during his campaign before a large audience here last night. He declared that both the Republicans and Democrats desire the welfare and prosperity of the country; that they differ only as to the means to that end. He expressed the conviction that the tariff should be revised by the Republicans and criticized adversely the proposal to protect bank deposits by guarantee.

DISCUSSED LABOR VOTE.

Washington, Oct. 10.—James H. Reynolds of New York called on the president, having come here at the request of Chairman Hitchcock to discuss with the president the situation in regard to the labor vote of New York state, which he declared was looking somewhat more favorable for the Republicans than it had been. Reynolds will make a tour of New York state next week.

TAFT'S WORK FOR NEXT WEEK.

Cincinnati, Oct. 10.—W. H. Taft and President Roosevelt will have a consultation in Washington, where the candidate will spend Sunday, Oct. 18. After three days in Ohio, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, Taft will devote his attention to the south for the remaining three days of the week.

MURDER STOPS WEDDING.

Wadsworth, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The police are endeavoring to unravel the mystery of the murder of Ora Lee, 21 years old, a handsome factory girl, whose corpse was found yesterday on the road between Wadsworth and the hamlet of Custard Brook. There were two bullets in her head. Guy Rauer, who Miss Lee was to have married today, is detained by the sheriff, pending the police investigation. The principal clue which led to the detention of Rauer is that along the road where the murder was committed are plaitly to be seen the tracks of a horse with one shoe missing. An examination of the stables at the Rauer home disclosed that one of Rauer's horses has a shoe missing from one of its front feet. Rauer refuses any explanation of this feature of the case.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

New York, Oct. 10.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that substantial progress toward industrial recovery was made during the past week, a very large number of wage-cutters resuming work in mills and factories that had been wholly or partially idle for many months. Evidence accumulates that stocks of dry goods are low almost beyond precedent and the urgency for quick shipment tends to generate confidence among buyers. Better conditions are reported at New England footwear factories.

BITE OF DOG KILLS BOY.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 10.—As a result of being bitten by a strange dog while at play with some mates three weeks ago, Mortimer Morgan, 14 years old, is dead. The boy had taken the Pastor's treatment in New York and on coming home was taken seriously ill. The four children who were attacked at the same time by the animal are Lillian Keefe, Henry Kenney, Edward F. Fineran and the Morgan boy. All the others are reported to be getting better.

FIRE THREATENS MOUNTAIN.

Richford, Vt., Oct. 10.—Forest fires are again raging east and north of here. Jay Mountain, which rises 4010 feet above the sea level, is a mass of flames about the base, and unless a heavy rain comes the entire growth of trees covering its lofty slopes is likely to be burned away. Another fire of dangerous proportions is burning northeast of here. Two sets of farm buildings have been burned thus far and others are threatened.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Albert Hawley of Davenport, Ia., was elected grand secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Scout master Salen will leave the Boston navy yard about Oct. 15 for Guantanamo bay, Cuba, for a "shaking down" cruise.

That the present season has been the most disastrous in the history of the French fishing fleet of the Grand Banks is evidenced by the reports that keep coming in of disasters to the many vessels of that fleet.

STEWART WILL BE RETIRED.

Is Afflicted With Valvular
Disease of the Heart.

STORY OF HIS TRANSFER.

Colonel Not Allowed to Tell His Medical Record—Walking Was His Exercise at Fort Grant, One Crippled Horse Being Only Available Animal For Riding.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The army retiring board which has been investigating the health of Colonel William F. Stewart, the so-called "Fort Grant exile," has concluded its work, and while the result of its deliberations was not officially made public, it is understood that the board found Stewart so seriously afflicted with valvular disease of the heart as to incapacitate him from further service in the army.

The finding which has been agreed upon will be reported to the secretary of war and it is considered likely that Stewart's retirement by the president will follow. If not retired Stewart would have more than four years of active service and, since he is one of the oldest officers of the artillery corps, his friends contend he would stand a good chance of reaching the grade of brigadier general before leaving the active service. If retired, he will receive three-fourths of his regular pay, or about $400 per month.

Before the board took the subject up in executive session it heard a somewhat detailed statement by Stewart relative to his record in the army and listened to brief arguments by Stewart's counsel and Recorder Howland, the latter speaking for the service. Stewart was not permitted to go outside his medical record, and when his attorney made an effort to elicit from him the circumstances under which he had been transferred from Fort Buchanan, Pa., to Fort Grant, Ariz., Howland interposed positive objection, which was sustained by the board.

In his statement Stewart said that he was in the habit of taking horseback rides of from twenty to thirty miles a day for many years until his removal to Fort Grant a year ago. He found at Fort Grant only one horse and, inasmuch as that animal was a cripple, he was deprived of this opportunity for exercise. While at Fort Grant, however, he substituted walking for riding and generally covered from eight to fourteen miles a day. He never felt any ill-effects from either walking or riding, and up to a month ago he had received no warning from any physician against these forms of exercise, notwithstanding for thirty-five years he had been under the observation of army surgeons. He said that he had known ever since 1874 that his heart was affected, but he paid no attention to that fact. Stewart said that he had been in the service for almost forty years and that there were only four officers having a longer record.

"Do you wish to be retired?" asked Mr. Howland, the counsel's counsel.

"No," responded Stewart, with emphasis.

"Why do you wish to continue in the service?" asked the lawyer.

"Because I have spent my life in the army and am fond of the service. I was born at a military post, grew up on the frontier and when I grew up entered the army. I have no reason why I should be prevented from remaining in the army until the arrival of the time for my retirement as fixed by the law."

The arguments of counsel were brief. Then, for Stewart, contenting himself with a retort of his own's service which, he said, had been the subject of much favorable comment, the only criticism being by General Grant, who said that Stewart was an able and efficient officer, but that his efficiency was marred by irresponsibility.

Captain Howland, in reply, contended that there was but one issue before the board and that was whether Stewart is now so seriously afflicted by heart disease as to be incapable of performing his duties as an officer in the army. He declared also that notwithstanding Stewart's long record he had spent only six months of that time in the field.

HISTORY OF 225 YEARS.

Faithfully Reproduced in a Great Living Picture in the Quaker City.
Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Like pages out of the past and fraught with the memories of 225 years, the first great historical pageant planned in this country took place before 750,000 people. In this extraordinary feature of Philadelphia's notable celebration of Founders' Week there were 5000 men and women in costume. There were seventy floats, representing months of careful study and faithful to the last detail in their portrayal of the scenes selected from the long span of years that have marked the growth of the city.

All the romance, all the legendry, all the rugged story of the days of long ago, were comprehensively grouped in this notable display. People fought to get a glimpse of it and hundreds of women were taken fainting from the congested corners. Every ambulance in the city was brought into use and every hospital was filled.

The pageant moved along in vivid change from the time of the "Quakers," the first ship to enter the Delaware in 1639 to the present day, with a concluding scene of prophecy and civic pride representing "The City Beautiful." It was a wealth of color and a fidelity to history. The pageant was prepared entirely at the city's expense and there was no stalling anywhere.

BATTLESHIPS LEAVE MANILA.

No Ceremony or Demonstration
on Their Departure.

Manila, Oct. 10.—The sixteen big battleships of the Atlantic fleet are now en route to Japan. Sailing orders were given by Rear Admiral Sperry for the fleet to depart two hours earlier than the announced time yesterday, and early this morning the flag-ship Connecticut got under way. Half an hour later all of the great ships were in motion and followed the Connecticut down the bay.

In the brilliantly sunlit morning the majestic line of warships presented a magnificent appearance, their white sides glistening as they moved slowly out to sea. The people had not been warned of the change in the hour of departure and few witnessed it. There was consequently no ceremony or demonstration of any kind, save the display of flags by the merchantmen and the whistling salutes by the batteries in the bay. At 8:45 o'clock the long line had cleared Corregidor Island, at the mouth of the bay, and headed north into the China sea.

Simultaneously with the departure of the fleet the authorities of Manila started a new campaign to eradicate cholera. The police were ordered to make two house-to-house inspections daily and the constabulary will perform ordinary police duty and guard infected houses. The disinfecting force has been increased and the general scope of the work broadened. The number of new cases reported averages ten daily.

GAS KILLED FOUR ITALIANS.

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 10.—Deputy Coroner Makropoulos, in his report of an illuminating gas fatality which resulted in the death of four Italians in a boarding place here, declares no blame can attach to the tenants of the floor below, who, he believes, although they deny it, deposited a quarter in a long disused meter on their floor. They could not be expected, he says, to know that the meter supplied the floor above, where the tragedy occurred, or that a gas fixture on that floor had been torn away, leaving the pipe open. He attaches no blame to the gas company.

POACHERS GOT AWAY.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 10.—A fight with rifles between American fishermen and Canadian officers is said to have taken place on Lake Superior, opposite Whitefish point. Americans are said to have been fishing in Canadian waters at this end of the lake for some time and several days ago officers went to the scene to make a seizure. It is said that the fishermen escaped.

$2500 FOR LOSS OF HAIR.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Susan Robinson, of Somerville, was awarded a verdict of $2500 yesterday afternoon for the loss of a part of her hair and scalp in an accident at the factory of the Systester Tower company, this city, two years ago. She sued for $10,000. Mrs. Robinson, who was then Miss Egan, had her hair caught in an unprotected shafting.

DOG TOOK'S WIFE KILLED.

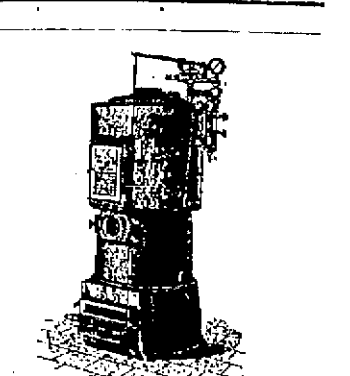

Andover, Me., Oct. 10.—Dr. Charles E. Williams of this city and his wife were victims of an automobile accident in Leeds. Their machine was overturned, plowing them beneath it. Mrs. Williams died a short time after she had been removed from the wreck and the condition of Williams is very serious. No one saw the accident.

WAS BANKER AND AUTHOR.

Melrose, Mass., Oct. 10.—Elbridge H. Goss died at his home here after a brief illness of pneumonia, aged 78. He had been treasurer of the Melrose Savings bank for twenty-four years and was the author of numerous historical works. In 1871 and 1875 he represented his district in the Massachusetts legislature.

Never mind the knockers, but keep working for the interests of the Portsmouth navy yard is the policy of the Herald, and it will not be deviated from it by the efforts that have been directed at that goal.

OUR EXCHANGES

It is Haverhill's Experiment

Haverhill has decided by a vote of 357 to 224 to try the government by commission scheme, a scheme to which we have heard in this town and are likely to hear more. The charter adopted in Haverhill which provides for it, is copied from the Des Moines plan. Under its provisions a board of commissioners or advisers is elected every year, with a salary of $1800 each, and the old board of seven advisers and 11 common councilmen shall serve. The mayor is also elected every year at a salary of $2500. Instead of $2000 as heretofore, but is to have no veto power. The old school board of 21 members will be replaced by four members elected at large. The initiative and referendum is given the voters, and also the right to remove any member of the government who does not hold true to the pledges of his office, by a petition signed by 2 per cent of the voters. The new charter will go into effect at the beginning of the municipal year, Jan. 1, 1909. This is a radical departure in municipal government for an eastern city to make, and the working out of the experiment in Haverhill will be watched with interest.—Portland Argus.

Diplomacy Versus War

It was to be expected in the Balkans the Powers could not quickly assemble in conference and try the effect of diplomacy. It is obvious that some rectification of the Treaty of Berlin is inevitable. Austria does not mean to leave Bosnia and Herzegovina, over which she is practically ruler, to the merces of a chance crisis. Bulgaria is equally determined to rid herself of the shadowy suzerainty of the Turk. Behind both, perhaps, Germany, anxious to throw a bone of contention among the Powers which have endeavored to isolate her and diminish her importance in the European concert. Last of all is Turkey first beginning a constitutional regime promising national regeneration and reform, only to find her territory—what she regards as such—sliced away. Unless, therefore, speedy action of some sort is taken, the Turkish people may soon be in as wretched a plight as the Serbians. Certainly the Young Turkey party will be put in an embarrassing position if its advent to power is accompanied by a serious loss of prestige.—Providence Journal.

And It Will Cost Millions

As a step in the direction of lesson for the dangers of desert travel, the Los Angeles delegation at the Albuquerque Irrigation Congress will recommend the placing of durable signs of wells at the public expense at such spots to lessen the risk of perishing from thirst. A constant carrying out of these ideas would tend greatly to change the character of the deserts by enabling prospectors to thoroughly investigate their resources, the growing importance of which is generally recognized.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mr. Bryan, Silence Is Golden

While sitting in Denver, watching the convention, we noted down the opinion that Mr. Bryan's best hope for election lay in retiring to the bottom of the Pacific and allowing not a single bubble to escape. Since that time he has taken a great deal about the best way of regulating the trust; he has made a special slogan of the Oklahoma patent-medicine banking plan; he, the visionary, has claimed to be heir to the practical Roosevelt; he has been desperately involved in an encounter with the almost invincible politician; and he has cast false aspersions on the integrity of the governor of New York. Too many bubbles have escaped. Whatever may be thought of the President's taste, in the controversy between vague and dangerous theory upon the one hand and shrewd, practical reform upon the other, between sedating and vacillating arguments and the heavy battalions of established fact, Collier's.

Washington Safe for Mr. Taft

Local party leaders who are inclined to complain at the difficulty they experience in getting their national committees to send speakers to assist them in the campaign in this state should remember that Washington is looked upon as the most secure Republican State in the West. Washington Republican leaders have reported to their national organizations that a Taft victory in this State is already a foregone conclusion, while none of the local Democratic leaders have been able to inspire in the leaders of the national organization more than a distant hope that Bryan might carry this State in case of a Democratic landslide.—Spokane Spokesman Review.

The Outlook in New Jersey

Neither the Republican nor the Democrats in New Jersey have any campaign fund. Naturally, therefore, there is not much noise or activity. A similar condition exists in almost every other state. To outward appearances no one is taking much interest in the election. That this inference would be a mistake, however, appears to come out by the heavy registration in Republican districts in Chicago. Behind the large registration is more significance than could be accounted for by the anti-Dewey fight. It means that Republicans are getting ready to vote for Taft.—Jersey Journal.

A Vanishing Fear

Two weeks ago, many thoughtful men began to be afraid that Bryan was to be elected President by an unreasoning wave of popular hysteria. Today this fear is vanishing. The voters are showing a sturdy common sense, an intelligent appreciation of the political situation, that puts an end to all fears that the issues of the campaign will not be clearly understood.—New York Globe.

Effect of Mr. Hughes' Nomination

Mr. Chandler stands on a platform of opposition to the governor's policies, yet the influence of the Democratic candidate is largely due to the reforms he accomplished as a county supervisor. How can that record, perfect as it may be, stand by comparison with the record of the candidate who in two years in the executive mansion in Albany has not only accomplished momentous reforms in the greatest State in the Union, but has made himself a figure of national importance, so that other States, contemplating similar reforms, are looking upon New York as a model, and other voters living in far distant commonwealths, are brought to support the Republican ticket purely because Mr. Hughes has been nominated for Governor of New York.—Syracuse Post Standard.

Passing of the Brig

The announcement of the change to schooner-rig of the brig Frederich Schep is accompanied by the statement that there are now but five brigs on the Atlantic coast under the American flag. The wonder is that there are but five brigs, no brig having been built in the United States since 1823, when but a solitary vessel of this description left the ways. But fifteen brigs have been built to fly the Stars and Stripes since 1823.

The brig taking its name from the pirate captain of the Mediterranean, was a favorite type of American sailing vessel. Even the glory of the clipper ship in the great days between 1810 and 1850 did not obscure its laurels won in the India trade and in whaling. It carried the fame of the American seamanship around the Horn and the Cape of Good Hope into every sea.

Steam and the more economical schooner long ago sealed the doom of the brig, together with all forms of the square rigger. The thirty-three ships and boats built in the year of greatest activity in that line of shipbuilding in a quarter of a century, 1853, illustrate by contrast with the few schooners launched that year the change from the picturesque to the practical in American shipping.—New York World.

AT THE POLICE STATION

The officer brought the man to the station where he was booked as Gen. Hussey, and locked up.

Later, Officer Shannon found that the article had been taken from the yard of a family by the name of Lovell, at the corner of Rock and Hanover street, where they had been left on a line to dry over night.

MONEY MISSING

And Darius Frink Thinks It May Have Gone with Hired Man

Darius Frink of Newington wants the police to arrest John Connolly whom he alleges he wants for robbing him of $45. It appears that the much wanted man had been at work for Mr. Frink during the summer on his farm in Newington and that on Wednesday evening he disappeared and with him went $45 of Mr. Frink's hard cash, so Mr. Frink alleges. It appears that Connolly knew where Mr. Frink kept his money and that before leaving he could have appropriated the money for his own use. Mr. Frink states that Connolly is about 25 years old, about five feet four or five inches tall and had what is termed a cock eye.

Kittery, Oct. 10.

The camp fire closing the three days bazaar of the Methodist church proved an interesting occasion, especially to the veterans of E. G. Parker Post and the Mark E. Wentworth Camp, Sons of Veterans, who accepted the invitation to be present. The young ladies' chorus contributed not a little to the program which was as follows: Bugle call and assembly; Mr. Pierce; chorus, All Hail America; address of welcome, Rev. Daniel Onstott; pastor; response, Edwin A. Duncan, commander of Post; solo, A Little Boy Called Taps; Miss Martha Onstott; reading, "The Whistling Regiment," Miss Rachel Cutts; solo, "Around the Camp Fire," Albert Gougin; chorus, Marching Thro' Georgia; call to mess; after which each veteran passed a water and received from him a paper plate containing a doughnut, piece of cheese, and tin cup of coffee, which cup was to be retained as a souvenir; solo and quartet, Mr. Gougin and Mr. Macy; Hatch and Philbrick; "Fencing tonight," Star Spangled Banner, chorus followed by tubs; taps; Special mention should be made of the excellent elocutionary work of Miss Cutts and the solos of Mr. Gougin and Martha Onstott. Mrs. Wentworth, Jack, etc., were on sale. The vegetable man and woman were auctioned off by Col. Swift, "Carrie Nation" being secured by Miss Moneroff and "Bill Tait" by the genial assistant at Hannaford's and "Bryan" by Mr. W. B. Paul. Martha Onstott secured the hat given by Miss Moneroff. Gladys Milliken chose the order of a dozen photos of St. Clare studio; and Ruth Macy the lamp. The speeches of Mr. Onstott and Mr. Duncan were unique in that they were right to the point. By the way, can there be anything in the fact that a young man of the village seemed especially interested in kitchen ware? An auction of the vegetables, etc., still remaining brought a pleasant profitable occasion to an end.

Now local interest in entertainments centres in the sale of the ladies' circle to be held at the Second Christian church on Thursday evening, Oct. 15. It is always a pleasant occasion.

Mr. Frank Walker of the variety store, after fishing on Friday, secured a cod of wholesale light which tipped the scales at forty-four pounds, "Going Somewhere."

The display of floral tributes at the funeral of Mr. Charles W. Seaward was one of the largest and most beautiful ever seen in this locality and testified very eloquently of regard and sympathy.

Two funeral services at a church in one week is surely an unusual occurrence. It happened with us here this week however.

And still rain holds off. Mrs. Abbie Mason appears now to be somewhat improved.

Mr. Allen of Berwick was in town on Friday.

Mrs. William Philbrick is entertaining friends from Kittery Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Irish are in town to attend the funeral of a relative.

Miss Mary L. Hanson of New London, Conn., is to be the guest of her cousin, Miss Nettie Hanson, next week. She is now in Manchester, N. H.

Regular meeting on Monday evening in Old Fellows Hall of Riverside Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Services tomorrow at the Second Methodist church will be as follows: Preaching in the morning at 10:30 by the pastor, Rev. Daniel Onstott; subject of sermon "The Sin of Possessiveness;" followed by session of Sunday school. At the five o'clock evening services the subject of the sermon will be "Continuous Judgment," followed by the Epworth League service at six p. m.

At the Second Christian church tomorrow the order of services will be as follows: Preaching at 10:30 a. m. by the pastor, Rev. Edward H. Macy, subject of sermon "Confession of Christ and Confession by Christ;" followed by the regular session of the Bible school. The Junior League will meet at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. Alexander Dennett on John street. At the 6:00 p. m. service at the Christian Endeavor Society the subject will be "Commanding Our Society." At 7:00 the subject of service will be "A Restoration to Sight."

Following is the program for the fifth semi-annual session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars.

Tuesday evening Oct. 13, Reception of grand lodge officers and members of Rockingham Lodge No. 3, of Portsmouth from 7:30 to 8:15. Special lodge meeting at 8:15 sharp, followed by a social time at which refreshments will be served.

Wednesday: Business session beginning at 8:00 a. m. and continuing throughout the day. In the evening there will be a public meeting at Grange Hall. Speakers, National Grange Secretary Wylie of Beverly, Mass., Bros. Uriah A. Caine of Kennebunk, Frank Dexter, E. H. Emery of Sanford, Me. Special music will be furnished.

Thursday: A short business session in the forenoon followed by a visit to the navy yard and other points of interest.

The official headquarters will be at the Orman House. All sojourning Good Templars are invited to the special meeting on Tuesday evening at 8:15, also the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union as well as the public are invited to the public meeting on Wednesday evening.

The expenses are not all figured, but the net proceeds of the harvest festival at the Methodist church will be in excess of $215. The money will be used for the repair of the house of worship.

Kittery Point

Capt. David R. Webber of York Harbor came into Brimbleton Harbor Wednesday in his thirty-foot power launch, Onward, and anchored her near the mouth while he went ashore to dig clams. When he next noticed her, she was high and dry on the rocks, having been forced ashore by the south wind, and damaged beyond repair. The engine, a ten-horse power Buffalo, was removed Friday. The craft was valued at $700. Captain Webber's many friends here sympathize with him in his loss.

Capt. Albert Wiley of Wisconsin has resumed command of the four master, William H. Clifford, now at this port, while Capt. John Furrow, who has had her while her former skipper enjoyed a vacation, relinquishes his charge.

A large number of couples will attend the dancing school which, beginning with Monday evening, will be held weekly in Fishers' Hall. Judging by the interest manifested locally in dancing last winter and thus far the present season, the enterprise will prove a decided success.

Schooner Magnus Madison has been chartered from Baltimore to Boston or Portland at fifty cents, or Portsmouth at fifty-five cents, and schooner John Twenty from Newport News to Bangor on private terms, both with coal. Both vessels were towed down river Friday, the latter going to sea.

The ferryboat Kittery is running today while the Alice Howard undergoes repairs.

The Portsmouth schooner Annie F. Conlon, Capt. H. F. Harper, has sailed from Philadelphia with coal for Brunswick, Ga.

Melvin Blake is filling the place of his brother, Henry at Clarkson's store, while the latter is enjoying a vacation.

Leslie F. Bleckford has returned from a visit in Boston.

Mr. Swift of Boston is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Elvay Jenkinson at their home on Gerrish Island.

Mrs. Winfield L. Tobey is able to be out of doors again after an illness.

Mrs. John Thaxter and daughter Miss Rosamond passed Monday in Boston.

An unknown drunk has been frightening residents of Cutts Island for several days past.

The schooner J. R. G. Perkins, which was wrecked at Cape Porpoise, this week after running into a guy wire stretched by a dredge, was a frequent visitor here. She was owned and commanded by Capt. Morton J. Kent of Swan's Island.

A harvest supper will be held Tuesday evening from six to eight at the Free Baptist church.

Saturday Afternoon

Exeter, Oct. 10.

Football and plenty of it is to be the order here this afternoon. The particular enthusiast can choose between Exeter Academy and the Princeton Freshmen at the campus or Exeter High and Methuen High at the seminary. Both are bound to be good games.

William C. Greene has leased the Martin house on Gill street.

The Renaissance Club will meet with the Misses Bell Monday evening. This meeting will be the first of the season.

The committee on remodeling the town hall will hold a meeting tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton D. Carlisle, formerly of Exeter, but now residing at Greenfield, Mass., are spending the week at their old home.

It is reported that a Republican rally is to be held in the town hall either Monday or Tuesday night. Senator Gallinger and Hon. A. C. Bean of Belmont are to be the speakers.

Harrison T. Groat, grand, William Morrill, William P. Bartlett and Levi B. Tilton, petit, are the Exeter jurors drawn for the October term of the superior court.

Rev. Edward Green, pastor of the Unitarian church, will preach at Portsmouth tomorrow, exchanging with Rev. Alfred Gooding.

A series of revival meetings will begin Sunday night at the People's Methodist church. The meetings will be under the direction of Rev. Raymond Huse.

Now that Chicago has put New York out of the running the local fans will probably give the telephone a little rest and certainly "information" must feel the need of rest too.

The Webster Troupe, No. 22, improved Order of Red Men, held a largely attended meeting Tuesday night. Several applications for membership were received and considered. At the close of the regular business an oyster supper was served.

The First Parish will hold a special business meeting on Oct. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry French enjoyed a dinner of green corn on Friday. This was somewhat unusual at this time of the year, considering the frosts.

Joe Gilman, an old Dartmouth favorite, star guard on the All American eleven for that position, is assisting Glaze in coaching the Academy team. Gilman's knowledge of the line should prove of great value to the line men.

The engagement of Thomas Albert Wright Jones of Exeter, O., to Miss Betty Shearn of Denver, Col., is announced. Some may not recognize the prospective groom's imposing name. In plain, every day life he is known as "Tad" Jones, one of the greatest athletes Exeter Academy ever turned out and who won a great reputation at Yale in football and baseball circles.

The advance guard of the New Hampshire State College freshmen class arrived in town early Friday morning and by noon almost the entire class of sixty was here. The class, as is an annual custom, came to have their pictures taken. As is the annual custom, the sophs did their level best to keep the "freshies" within the limits of Durham. They captured a few but most of the "youngsters" got away and did a red hot pedestrian stunt to Newmarket, where they stayed all night, taking the morning train for Exeter.

He has served as secretary of the state committee in the last two campaigns, and is well known throughout the state.

DIXON—SMITH

Marriage at Dover of a Young Woman From Portsmouth

The Dover Democrat of Friday afternoon publishes the following:

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at six o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Washington street Free Baptist church, the contracting parties being Eugene F. Dixon of this city, formerly of Portsmouth, and Miss Rita B. Smith, a most estimable lady of Portsmouth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank K. Chase and the couple were unattended.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of gray Irish lace, made over rose tulle and rose chiffon, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the new home of the couple at 594 Central avenue, where a reception and wedding supper was served by Caterer Baldwin Welch of Portsmouth of the Walters' Alliance of that city. While this festivity was in progress delightful music was furnished by the American orchestra, assisted by Miss Emily Bancroft of Bridgeport, Conn., cellist.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bates of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. George Howard of Exeter, Mrs. Smith of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Judge Adams of New York. Telegrams of congratulations and wedding presents were received from a number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon left here this afternoon for the mountains where they will spend a part of their honeymoon.

STATE COLLEGE

The "Chemical Colligium," the society for chemical engineering men of New Hampshire College, held their first meeting of the year in the college club rooms on Wednesday night.

President Karl D. Kennedy called the meeting to order and Secretary Sargent read his report. J. P. Trickey then favored the society with an excellent report on the new chemical element, Nipponium, which has just been discovered by M. Ogawa of Tokyo, Japan. C. D. Kennedy gave a short talk on the use of lithium crucibles as compared with Rhodium and Platinum. The meeting was then adjourned to meet two weeks later.

All through the hours of Friday night the town was disturbed by the class feud between freshmen and sophomores of New Hampshire college. Actually these two classes endeavor to have a class picture and banquet without the knowledge of the other. Friday afternoon the freshmen sprung an original idea on the sophs, which was so clever as to catch them off their guard. The pictures of the classes have always been taken out of town, but the nifty freshmen grouped up in front of Conant Hall to have their picture taken, with the 1911 class only a stone's throw away. The sophs later rounded up a number of freshmen under suspicion that they were planning a banquet, but after being guarded several hours the freshmen were allowed to depart. The majority of the 1912 class shortly afterward dropped out of sight. The whole class of sophs turned out and searched high and low and captured a few freshmen and by mistake two upper class men. For the rest of the night the town resounded with the din from the "Mansion," where the freshmen were furnishing amusement for "1911."

LOCAL DASHES

Vesper services begin tomorrow at the North church. Congregational. They will be held at five o'clock.

The driver of a big automobile containing two children did some reckless skidding on Congress and Pleasant streets on Friday afternoon.

A party of young people gave a carolamplian serenade Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Seymour of Donnet street, who recently entered the state of married bliss.

Remember to wear that old red Monday night at the Harvest Concert and Hall. The harvest "sheath gown" will be in evidence, but you wear something that will be appropriate for this multifarious occasion.

GAS NOTICE

The Gas Office will be open this evening from 7 to 9 to accommodate those wishing to take advantage of the discount on their gas bills.

A TIP FOR WILLIE.

But the Lady of the House Amended His Father's Instruction

"My son," said the head of the family, after he read all the sporting news "there's a good thing for you to remember. I give it to you out of the store experience. That I understood it at your years it would have saved me a good many mistakes."

"Always notice the way your hands laugh. By their laugh you may know their character."

The laughter of human beings is based on the vowels. If a man laughs in a open tone of A which is when he is tickled and honest, a little fond of noise and excitement, perhaps, and perhaps of a somewhat delicate disposition; but at any rate honest. You can trust him son.

"Those who laugh in E-pronounced tone are untrustworthy. Those who laugh in I-pronounced tone are cheerful. Children most often are that way, as do the simple, the old-fashioned, the affectionate, the kind and the un-decided folks."

"When your mother asks me if I am going to the club again and I laugh, using the O sound, it is not because I am timid, but because I am undecided. It is well to make a note of these things."

"Those who laugh loudly in O are generous and, harking to be of a distinct nature, the former of which is a good thing son, and the latter very bad for little boys."

"Never trust a man who laughs in U. He's a scamp. The Russian laughs in U. Yes, indeed, after you give up you will notice these things."

"Yes, Willie," said the lady of the house from the other side of the table, "remember what your father says, because to-morrow night he will want you to repeat it in company and say he told you. But for your own instruction I will tell you an easier way to pick out nice people than that somewhat complicated method mentioned by your dad."

"Notice the things that make men or women laugh. Never mind how they laugh or in what vowel sound they do it. Find out the thing that creates the laughter."

"If it is really a funny thing they are all right. If it is some pretentious that some one else is in or some idea that is not kindly or gentle then they are not all right. And, Willie, it is about (the way you want to be) now."

"No woman ever did have a sense of humor," remarked the head of the family as he went out and silently closed the door after him.

IT'S ALWAYS BAD
The Best of Backs Are Bad When They Ache, and Portsmouth People Know It

A bad back is always bad. Bad at night when bedtime comes. Just as bad in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it? Know they cure backache—every kidney ill.

If you don't, some Portsmouth people do.

Read a case of it:

Joseph Libbey, retired farmer, 35 High St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "A sharp pain across the small of my back was the first symptoms of kidney trouble in my case. Dizzy spells soon set in and whenever I caught cold, I was in misery. When I awoke mornings, I felt tired and my whole body was sore. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Phillips's drug store. This remedy soon relieved me and I have used it on several occasions since with the same good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMullen Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

INDEPENDENCE PARTY

posers; no money for votes, the inflation, the referendum, the recall."
I stood transfixed, as if awakening from a beautiful, enchanting dream and instinctively I exclaimed: "Surely the political millennium has come."
and without further hesitation, I cast
my lot with the party of pure politics, independent of all entangling alliances, and I earnestly entreat you, my hearers, to ponder with me on this momentous and all-important question. Weigh the situation thoroughly and join the party, which is designed to wrest the conduct of public affairs from the hands of gigantic corporations, selfish interest and concupiscence, and make this government, once more, an agency for the common good.

Day by day the control of the activities of the country drifts farther and farther from the common people and more and more into the hands of machine politicians and party bosses, and the people must look to the Independence party for the establishment of a new policy and a return to the genuine popular government as exemplified by the first independence party in 1776 and by the second when Lincoln was elected in the presidential chair. I ask you, my hearers, is it not right and proper that the government should rest with the people and be controlled for the whole citizenship rather than be controlled by the few and for the special benefit and advantage of any particular class? I answer, undoubtedly yes, hence the Independence party lectures for a collection of the tariff issues, ready opposing and con-quelling the oppressive trusts which sell chiefly abroad and take advantage of the tariff to maintain high prices at home—such actions are unfair and not dishonest, especially when large unearned dividends are paid on watered stock.
July last winter this state of affairs lent a staggering blow to all legiti-mate enterprises and today multitudes of defenseless investors, thousands of honest business men, and an army of idle working men are paying the penalty. Our party denounces all such practices and demand a legislation that will effectually correct all such abuses.

The Independence party also condemns and prohibits the use of money at elections, firmly believing that its dishonest disbursement in the past was largely responsible for the corruption that has undermined one system of popular government. Contemplate for a moment regarding the enormous sums of money demanded of the giant trusts and disbursed at elections.

Why, Senator Foraker, acknowledges to have received $50,000 from the steel trust.

Instead of putting it into the Taff campaign fund, Foraker distributed it amongst the members of the Ohio legislature to buy his reelection to the United States Senate. This made Taff mad. He wanted it himself, so Foraker was kicked out of the party, not for getting the money from the great steel trust, but for not watching it with Taff. Harrington, the great railroad and steamboat king, has contributed $250,000 to the Taff fund. Generosity? No. Philanthropy? Goodness? Charity? Not in your life. A dividend-paying investment, production to his immense railway system, supplied contracts to carry soldiers and government freight to California and the Philippines, and a license to eat the wages of his men. When the great Phil-lippy mill corporations contribute, don't give without the aid of the gay and festive yeast cake. Oil suddenly becomes higher as a result of Rockefeller's settlement, and when Amos and Swift pay their assessments, we find our roast beef so high that we imagine the cow has again jumped over the moon, and when the coal barons liquidate for protection and privileges, the fires burn but dimly on the workman's hearth, and the children are often sent to bed to keep them warm. These coal barons maintain luxurious club houses where they meet and devote us to just how much each company shall pay, while the price shall be and whether or not it is possible to lengthen working hours and shorten the pay roll, as they partake of the richest of food and wine, and laughingly talk and joke about their hole in the ground, as they are pleased to eat their mines.

Still, the hole that seems to interest them most is the one which they find in the neck of the bottles and the one under the nose of their constituent's taxes, where they stuff the rich food and pour the contents of their bottles, while their slaves or miners, deep in the dark, cold ground, surrounded by danger of fire and cave ins, partake of the ground benquet of corn beef and bread from their rusty dinner pail, and their champagne in the shape of a thin cup full of oily water.

Mr. Baer, when president of the great Lackawanna Mine Owners' Association, said in public that coal was placed in the ground by the Great Creator, and that mine owners were agents or partners of God Almighty, to dig and dispose of the coal; think of that, "Bare, God & Co., coal dealers," away with such sacrilegious audacity, away with such brazen blasphemy. Reserved seats in the front row, near the biggest fire, of the infernal recess or hottest hell are reserved for all such. Would you believe me, my hearers, if I should say to you that this state of affairs, somewhat modified, exists right here in New Hampshire today, I have positive knowledge that the mills of New Hampshire pay yearly dividends of from ten to thirty-five per cent, every dollar of which represents the wages of the lame back and thro-tled body, the aching head, the heart pangs and discouraged sigh of the mill hands who earn this money for the rich corporations. I contend that these immense dividends should be divided among the laborers, after allowing the owners a proper and honest remuneration for their investment, skill and time, but none of the earnings should go to the agents, buyers of raw material, sellers of finished products, and other high salaried people, who sit around their club, passing much of their time in idleness and dissipation, which at times is disguised respectably by the rumbling wheels of the slow moving hearse, containing the body of one more of their victims, who had been forced to labor beyond his strength in the effort to earn sufficient money to support his family. Is there not a demand for radical reform right here in New Hampshire?

Allow me to state a few facts regarding the recent cruel, outrageous and dastardly attack against the development of the natural resources of our state. I refer to the brutal assault and cowardly murdering of the grand enterprise which was to build a great dam, erect a gigantic mill and create a new city on the Merrimack. Plans for this masterpiece improvement were all completed, contracts ready for signature, including the cutting and placing of hundreds of carloads of stone, the purchase of immense quantities of lumber, cement, brick and machinery, the employment of thousands of laborers and skilled workmen. Yes, all arrangements were perfected, except a charter from the state to dam the Merrimack. The consent of over 450 members of the house was cheerfully and speedily granted. Everything looked bright, rosy. The people were joyous, the incorporators pleased, when, lo! a dark cloud appeared on the legislative horizon and settled down on the gulphed dome of our state house and completely blinding the great bird of freedom, liberty and justice, perched thereon. The president of the senate announced that the "honorable body of law makers would go into executive session." Darker and darker and threatening grew the cloud. All but actual members of the senate were ordered from the chamber, when, lo!
the cloud burst, the golden lightning killed the bill, the dam was ruined, the new mill destroyed, the new city annihilated, the thunder of indignation rolled throughout the state, and the beautiful Merrimack glowed quietly and calmly, unmolested and unharmed on its way to the sea.
The senate was damned, not the river.
Who can doubt for a moment the influence and interests that rode roughshod and unfettered over this grand, up-to-date, public enterprise. One more incident of this giant money power that exists in our midst. A man, who shall be nameless, aspired to a political position, believing that he could conduct the affairs of the office in a manner satisfactory to his constituents. He went to the district conventions on two occasions with sufficient delegates to insure his nomination, when to and behold, it was decided by the powers that be that because the candidate opposed null slavery and favored the working man, that his progress must be check-ed. Again, it was the dinner pail against the club banquet, the well-worn coat against the silk stockings, and what was the result? Why, he usual, of course, the dinner pail delegates were forced to surrender to the club banqueters, the soiled coat to the silk stockings."

Classified Employees Of Navy Yards
Will Look For An Increase

Boston, Oct. 10.—Three employees of the Charlestown Navy Yard have been chosen officers of two national associations of navy yard clerks and draughtsmen, formed at a recent meeting in New York of representatives of the seven eastern navy yards.
Leroy D. Green, was chosen national treasurer of the "National Association of Civil Service Employees at Navy Yards and Stations." This is the more important of the two associations. The second organization formed was the National Mutual Aid Association of the Civil Service Employees at Navy Yards and Stations.
Of this organization G. F. Stowers of the Charlestown Navy Yard was elected president and F. A. McCarthy, chief collector. Stowers was also elected a member of the executive committee of the first association.

The purpose of the first association is to secure better working conditions for the classified employees of the navy. The rates of pay in the classified service have been the same since 1897. About a year ago the employees unanimously elected the secretary of war for an increase. The new association drafted another memorial. Should this appeal be unsuccessful the association will consider radical steps to force the hands of department heads.

The following statement is issued by the officers of the new organization:

"The classified civil service employees at the navy yards and naval stations have organized to better their conditions as national employees. They feel that the navy yard employees and particularly the clerks at navy yards are being discriminated against, as compared with the conditions in the other departments of the federal service. The navy yard clerks take the same common examinations and are eligible to appointment in any of the departments, and therefore should receive equal consideration and compensation.

"The national association, immediately upon organizing this week, proceeded to memorialize the secretary of the navy, inviting his attention to the fact that nothing has as yet been done by the navy department, although President Roosevelt, by executive order, authorized the department heads some months ago to readjust the salaries of the classified

DAILY FASHION
BY MAY MANTON
A SIMPLE LITTLE COAT.

Simple little coats are sure to be needed just now when the youngsters are all being prepared for school and this one is admirably well adapted to such use. In the illustration it is made of dark blue serge with velvet collar and cuffs and the yoke is trimmed with soutache, but while it is an exceedingly simple little model it can be varied in a great many ways and becomes dressy or plain as it is treated in one
way or another.
When designed for school it can be made as illustrated but
if a more elaborate coat is
wanted the fancy
yokes with panel
extensions can be applied over
it, when there
will be an entirely different effect. For a coat made in the latter style
white, champagne color, pale
blue and pale
pink broad-
cloths are much liked with the edges simply scalloped. For school wear dark
colored cloth
and serge, chev-
rot, mixtures
and diagonals all are in vogue. The coat is tucked, which makes it prettily full, and is joined to the yoke, but this yoke is entirely concealed under the lancy yoke with the panel when it is used. The collar and the cuffs can be wired or omitted as liked.

For the four year size will be required 3 1/2 yards of material 27, 2 yards 44 or 3 1/2 yards 52 inches wide with 1 1/2 yard of velvet. A May Manton pattern,
No. 6136, sizes 2, 4 and 6 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (It is haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

HE COWED CHINESE OUTLAWS
An American Scientist Who Would Stand for No Nonsense

It was in August of 1897, Frank N.
Meyer, the scientific explorer for the United States government, had set out with coolies and carts for the pech region of Northern China. The region, he knew, was full of outlaws, brigands and murderers. One night when his coolies were asleep, some Chinese soldiers, huge Manchurian fellows far different from the American idea of the Chinese, rode up to the inn and warned Meyer not to go on. There was a band of robbers on the road. At the words, his coolies jumped from sleep, ghastly pale and trembling with fright. They threatened to desert. Meyer forced them to go on.

Next morning toward midday they were at a country inn, when a great commotion was heard outside. The inspector rushed in breathless with the news that the murderers had just hunted a merchant traveler to death on the public highway. Meyer rushed out in time to see a corpse rushed in by pickaxes brought in. Naturally none of the company had appetite for dinner that day. The mannered coolies went raving mad with fear. All that prevented them deserting the while man was the distance from home. It was as unsafe to retreat as to go on.

Meyer handed out long knives for his men to defend themselves and put his own pistol in order, giving instructions for the party to keep indoors after dark. The Chinese soldiers offered to accompany the white man part of the way; but that would be only an alternative of evils. Meyer refused. Some miles along the road the explorer and his party passed the band of outlaws—A ragged mob gathered in a farm field making a pretense of work, with bludgeons and huge swords ready to hand.

When we think of the Chinese, we naturally think of the dwarfed specimens seen in Oriental colonies of America; but the north of China native is a huge six-footer, tough as a barbarian, as savage as one, too. The sun was shining as the white man's party marched past. The light shined on the long nickel-plated barrel of Meyer's biggest pistol. The scientist looked straight and unflinching in the faces of the outlaws. The leader of the brigands nodded to his followers.
They dropped their bludgeons and made still greater pretense of working.

WORTH KNOWING
To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches and all forms of skin eruptions,
is, according to a well known Physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarassment on account of the unpleasant appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your Druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola one-half ounce. Ether one ounce.
Alcohol seven ounces. Mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain on the skin at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage toll. Get the Pure Clearola, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

WILL PLAY THEIR SECOND GAME
TODAY
The High school football team will line-up against the Rochester High at the Plains this afternoon and the local team expects to make a win of
it. They have been practicing this week and have improved their game over that of last Saturday and should be able to play much faster. The line-up will be practically the same with the exception that Griffin will be in center in place of McCarthy, who will lay off for a time.

The High school boys will play the Rochester High at the Plains this afternoon. The home team have improved since Saturday.

BUCHANAN AND THE COWBELL.
Incident of President's Early Life Caused Political Feud.

Rev. Dr. Frederick Gast, professor emeritus of Hebrew in the Reformed Theological seminary at Lancaster, Pa., is one of the very few persons living who were intimately acquainted with President Buchanan, and he has a large stock of stories about the Pennsylvanian that have never appeared in print.

Buchanan was born in a sparsely settled part of Bedford county, and in his youth his mother was accustomed to place around his neck a cow bell, so that its tinkling announced his whereabouts whenever he wandered into the woods surrounding the family cabin. Neighbors' children, nearly all of whom were of German parentage, favorably thereafter called him
"Chimney milt de bells on," a nickname which later in life led him into one of the fiercest political feuds that ever existed in the Keystone state.

Thaddeus Stevens and Buchanan were practicing lawyers in Lancaster, and were intimate friends until one day, opposed to each other in the trial of a suit, Stevens banteringly referred to his friend as "Chimney milt de bells on."

Buchanan made no reply in court,
but as soon as the trial was ended
he lured his insulter into an alleyway and gave him a drubbing which Stevens had reason to never forget. Thereafter the two were implacable enemies.

MORAL VALUE OF THE SWORD.
Weapon Purely Ornamental, But Can Not Be Discarded.

Officers of the German army are to be ordered to resume their swords, discarded after the Boer war. The fact is of interest as showing a recognition by the army authorities of the moral value of a weapon now become purely ornamental. With the onony's firing line miles away, the sword has come to be regarded as a military toy merely. One of the minor lessons of the Japanese war was the demonstration of its usefulness as a distinguishing mark of the officer.

To do away with the sword would be to effect a military economy at the expense of the spirit of the service, of a kind with the silencing of the drum in the French army. In the sword lies half the poetry of war. Where else on canvas is martial glory so vividly as in Malesherbes' "Friedland," with the cuirassiers galloping before Napoleon, their avowals raised on high?
Saber fact makes it true that the long-range rifle no less than the pen is mightier than the sword. States can be saved without it, and peaceful nations will continue to beat their swords into plowshares.

Must Not Smoke in the Theater.
Paul Mounet appeared at Havre recently at the Missionary Bishop in "Le Duel," which we saw in New York last year with Ellen Plympton and Otis Skinner. An he lighted a cigar at the wings an officer of the fire brigade informed him that he must not smoke in the theater.

"But it is in the play," explained M.
Mounet; "I am smoking as I go on and then I throw my cigar on the stage."
"Very well," replied the officer. So M.
Mounet made his entree as usual, but following him were two firemen, one of them with a bucket of water and the other with a huge sponge. The audience, appreciating the situation, roared and applauded with delight, and M. Mounet carefully deposited his cigar in the bucket and wiped his fingers on the sponge before proceeding with the dialogue. They enforce the regulations against theater fires in France.—Sports of the Times.

Fancy Dress Nuptials.
Each season sees the wedding ceremony becoming more and more of a theatrical pageant, until nowadays the only one of the protagonists who appears in "the character of an English gentleman" is the bridegroom. Bride and bridesmaids run riot in medieval robes, directoire fantasies, and even in the sandals, wreaths, and chignons of ancient Hellas, while the unfortunate small boys who officiate are dressed in any fearful and degrading fashion that may happen to please their natural parents. Needless to say, these urchins "feel their position acutely," and will possibly take their revenge later on by eschewing matrimony altogether, or by fowling their brides to be married—from a taxicab—at a registrar's office.—London Sketch.

Got Kipling's Autograph.
Rudyard Kipling, on his last homeward voyage from South Africa, not so long ago, was watched carefully by a lady autograph hunter who longed to approach him, album in hand, but did not dare to do so. One morning she saw him scribble on one of the little cards which are used when passengers order any drinks they may require. These cards are collected into little bundles at the end of the week and then redeemed. The fair huntress darted after the steward who had the card, and begged to be allowed to keep it and pay for the order, which read: "Two sodas and one whiskey," and the signature was
"R. Kipling."

Undismayed.
"No," said the passerby, "I cannot give you any money."
"For charity's sake?" persisted the beggar.
"Not to-day. Charity begins at home, with me!"
"Right you are, sir. What's your address?"

Many of the veteran friends are of the opinion that it would be better to put up the bandstand, T. W. Frost and give her a trial before going out of town for a machine. Others say that she has been beaten by the Franklin Pierce, and "what's the use?"

Now don't say "I wish I had gone" Tuesday morning. Get your tickets today to the Harvest Concert and Ball, Freeman's Hall. You remember the Barn Dance. Well, the same went up the chimney just the same.

Bernstein is accounted the leading dramatist of France today. In "The Tides" he has not only hit it, but a universal topic but he has contrived an intricate plot which is not cleared until the very last minute of the play. Its venue in New York was enormous, lasting for ten months.

The story is a most pleasing one and has been a fairly successful page from the business and political life of today. "The Tide and the Moon" was a huge success here last season and unless this play proves an exception, it will duplicate its triumph in the return engagement.

Alfred P. Romney of Elliot has a gang of men at work with a pile driver at Folly pond building a new dam for the Kittery Water District Water Company. The pile driver was towed around to the York River and then hauled overland to the pond where the work was started last week. It will be a long job.

STRAWBERRIES

IN OCTOBER

Portsmouth Woman Picks a Good Mess At Newington

Mrs. Fred de Richemont is showing her friends some luxuriant wild strawberries.

Mrs. de Richemont was visiting relatives in Newington on Friday, and discovered that field strawberries abundant, something that is astonishing for October.

She picked enough for a generous dessert at dinner.

The berries which she brought back to the city are as large as marbles, and number four and five to the stalk. They are a good red color and have a delicious flavor.

HUBBARD SQUASH BEATS THE EARTH

Henry P. Ridge is Exhibiting One of Immense Size

Henry P. Ridge of No. 8 Spring street claims to have raised the biggest Hubbard squash that was ever produced in the north.

He has it on exhibition today in the city. It is nearly of mammoth proportions, weighing thirty-six and a half pounds. Mr. Ridge states that some other squashes grow a good deal heavier than the Hubbard, but the quality of the Hubbard keeps it the leading variety. He has made extensive inquiry and is convinced that never before was there produced so large a squash of this particular variety.

The vine here for in all the other time averaging twenty-two pounds apiece making a total of two hundred and thirty-four pounds of Hubbard squash from a single vine.

The record of this garden crops are unbroken, but this is the world beat.

WHO IS E. K. BROWN?

Unknown Man Making Trouble for One of Portsmouth's Citizens

Charges have been preferred against one Joseph N. Jones of this city a henchman in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard, and the attention of the secretary of the navy in the political activity of Captain Jones. The complaint is made by E. K. Brown, Portsmouth, N. H., and in the same enclosed a clipping from the Portsmouth column of 10 Sunday Globe which notes the fact that Capt. Jones is a candidate for representative in ward one.

Efforts have been made to locate E. K. Brown in this city and Kittery without avail. The general feeling at the navy yard and in this city is that the name E. K. Brown is a very familiar one. Brown, J. A. Mace, Brown, and is somebody better known where there is a good chance to make it and not come out in the north.

ARRESTED HORSE AND WAGON

But the Driver Could Not Be Found—Police Relieve Hungry Animal on Middle Street

On Friday afternoon a telephone message reached police headquarters that a horse and wagon load of wood had been standing for a long time on Middle street.

Police patrol went up that way and found that the driver had not been seen since eight o'clock and his rig was in one place until after three.

The officer brought the outfit to 30½ South street where he ordered the animal fed and cared for and then went out to look up the driver who was probably not half so dry as the poor horse.

Ensign A. H. Rice detached from duty on Paducah, Oct. 15, 1938; to home and leave one month.

The Eagle has recently received sailing orders to move from here on Oct. 17. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Groome of Louisiana, who are passing a few days at the Rockingham, visited the yard today.

Who is C. K. Brown? Is the question.

Quite a force of prisoners are engaged in picking apples from the trees in the vicinity of the hospital.

Capt. Cameron Melt, Winslow, U. S. N., commanding the battleship New Hampshire, was at the state and navy departments, Washington, D. C., Oct. 7, and the New Hampshire was ordered to Bridgeport, Conn., on Oct. 12, for a celebration of Columbus day by the United States of America. An Italian cruiser is also expected to be present.
